Needless to say, the quality and efficiency of services provided by any of top accounting firms in Singapore are matchless. The Big 4 such as KPMG, PWC, Deloitte, and EY (Earns & Young) are undoubtedly the top 4 accounting services providers in the world. These firms are the pioneers in the fields of accounting and auditing services. Not all business could afford to hire the services of big four as the cost of services are beyond their reach. The services of these top accounting firms are not suitable for small and medium business both regarding budget and requirements. The reputation of top accounting firm in Singapore is worthwhile when you can afford to avail their services.

The selection of right accounting firm can be crucial for business as it will impact on its financial record, performance and many other aspects. Hence, you must be careful while making the final choice. It is wrong to assume that you would not get high-quality services from small-size accounting firm when compare to reputed big firms. The ideal choice for an SME is small accounting company. Big 4 companies are meant for MNCs and business giants. Every aspect of a big firm is vast and broad, be it clientele list, the range of services, price or projects.

Basic features of Big 4 services:

- Client base is too huge and diverse across the industry.
- The cost of the service is hefty.
- A plethora of services under one roof.
- Exploit the most innovative and cutting-edge technology to deliver the services.

Despite these, Big 4 firms are not suitable for the small businesses as they hardly could give attention to the detail, which is highly essential for in the teething days of the startups. Above all, the service will cost arms and legs for small businesses. A startup must be nurtured by offering consistent support and guidance by the experts of the accounting firm they hired. It is

No matter which accounting firm do you hire, you must ensure that you are comfortable to tie up with the professionals for long term. Be sure to check their credibility and reputation in the market (check with the certifications of their professionals). The aspects like areas of interest, expertise level, industry experience and proficiency must be considered when searching the right service provider. You must initiate a discussion with the professionals before finalizing their service to avoid the last-minute hiccups and misunderstandings. Also, do not always go with the name and fame as that might not be suitable for your business at its growing stage.

From above analysis, it is clear that Big 4 or top accounting firms in Singapore are not ideal choices for SMEs, startups or small businesses. In fact, they basically cater to the big corporates, business giants and MNCs.
